FURIOUS TANK BATTLE RAGES TO TAKE CAEN

Germans Caught In Vise by Big Allied Advance

3 Nazi Divisions Face Annihilation

By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Thursday, June 29 (AP)—British and Canadian forces caught the prize inland port of Caen in a good nutcracker last night, reaching within four miles southwest of the city in the greatest tank battle of the Normandy invasion and pressing down from the north and northeast at distances of two to three miles.

The southwestern flank attack has thrown at least three opposing German elite armored divisions into "complete confusion," a staff officer at Allied field headquarters declared.

Progress Continues
A headquarters communiqué late Wednesday night announced continuing progress in spite of more bad weather and intense opposition. Both infantry and armored forces cracked through the Germans' Odon river line on a two-mile-wide front south of Tourville, the communiqué said, adding, "our advance continued toward high ground south of the Odon."

The push went on at least two miles past the Odon and within two and one-half miles from the Orne river, on which Caen is situated.

Other British troops fought two miles north of Caen and three miles west of the city, the communiqué said, while the outflanking movement which was the main thrust looped rapidly around from the west and southwest.

The bypassed German position at the village of Rauray, southeast of Fontenay and west of Caen, was seized out during the day. Resistance there had been "most stubborn," the communiqué said.

Seize Maupertuis Airfield
On the Cherbourg peninsula the Americans seized Maupertuis airfield east of the city of Cherbourg and were breaking down the last enemy resistance at the peninsula's northern and northwestern capes.

The final tally of prisoners were expected to reach 30,000 to 40,000, ranging close to 50,000 the total taken since the invasion began June 6.

A staff officer at field headquarters described this as just a beginning, with no remaining opposition worthy of the name, but said the British in the southeastern sector of the French beachhead were battling against furious German opposition from the Twenty-second, Twelfth S.S. and Lehrpanzer divisions. These probably are not at full strength, due to battle losses, but are described as excellent troops. Nevertheless, they are "complete turmoil" west and southwest of Caen, he stated.

Another Panzer division, not officially identified, was also in action elsewhere on the British front, and was said at headquarters that the German offensive had been checked, the fate of a large portion of the German Fifteenth and Seventeenth armies.

Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey, 47, who commanded the Thirtieth Corps of the British Eighth army in Africa, Sicily and Italy, was reported to be in command of the British forces, designated as the Second army.

Front Being Broadened
Headquarters said the originally narrow British front was being broadened steadily and progress was continuing, despite bad weather which continued to hamper use of the overwhelming Allied air power.

Caen threatened both by encirclement and head-on assault, should prove a valuable addition to the Allied unloading facilities. Although it is nine miles from the sea, its position on the canalized Orne river made it France's seventh busiest port in peacetime.

Supreme headquarters meanwhile disclosed the prospective value of Caen in a survey which showed the Germans had damaged seriously Cherbourg's great port facilities.

The nature of the damage was not specified, but it was declared that considerable improvisation would be required to get the fullest advantage from the port.

Four Red Armies Advance on Minsk

Capture 3 Large Fortified Cities

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, June 28 (AP)—Smashing westward toward the big White Russian capital of Minsk, four powerful Red armies virtually completed destruction of the German "fatherland line" today by capturing the fortified cities of Mogilev, Lepel and Ostrovetz, and completing the encirclement of Bobruisk, it was announced tonight by Moscow.

Altogether more than 1,000 populated places within the flaming 250-mile zone of fighting were taken during the day as the Soviet forces swept through what were reputed to be the Nazis' strongest defenses on the Eastern front.

Announcement by Stalin
Mogilev fell to Col. Gen. Matvei Zakharov's Second White Russian army after twenty-four hours of bitter street fighting, Premier Stalin announced in one of two special orders of the day.

In the course of blasting the Nazis out of their last fortress on the Dnepr river, the Russian troops captured two German generals, Lt. Gen. Rasmussen and Maj. Gen. Ermannsdorff, and completely routed the Twelfth German infantry division, said the daily broadcast, communiqué recorded by the Soviet monitor.

The capture of Lepel placed the Soviet first Baltic army of Gen. Ivan Bagration about twenty miles from the Old Polish border, the closest the Reds have reached to the frontier in North Central Russia.

50 Miles from Minsk
Field dispatches said the Russians, who opened their tremendous summer offensive last Friday, were within fifty miles of Minsk and it seemed possible that this major goal of the White Russian front might be reached in the first week of fighting.

Ostrovitch, sixty miles southeast of Minsk on the railway to Bobruisk, was taken in a "deep out-flanking" maneuver by Gen. Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian army and completed the encirclement of Bobruisk, Stalin announced in his second order of the day.

German Prisoners Held at Meade
FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., June 28 (AP)—Several hundred German prisoners, captured behind their own lines on the invasion beachheads of France, are held at this army post, the Baltimore Sun said today.

The Nazis were brought to this country because of the overcrowded condition of prisoner facilities abroad.

Some of the prisoners still wear their blue-green German uniforms.

Finnish Leaders Withdraw from Pro-Nazi Regime

Cabinet Ministers May Quit President

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, Thursday, June 28 (AP)—Finland's dominant Social Democratic party has ordered its five cabinet ministers, including Finance Minister Valio Tanner, withdrawn from the Risto-Linno government which plunged Finland into full collaboration with Germany and opened the doors of Southern Finland to Nazi troops.

The formal withdrawal is scheduled for a meeting of Parliament today but after spending five tense days in Helsinki it is my impression the action may yet be withheld as a result of the widely expressed fear of many Finns that Tanner's resignation might precipitate a collapse of the morale of Finnish troops at the front.

The Progressive party and the Swedish People's party also expressed no confidence in the government in party caucuses. One Progressive member may withdraw from the cabinet.

Besides Tanner, who symbolizes Finland's resistance to Russia, other Social Democratic cabinet ministers slated to leave the government are Minister of Social Affairs A. Aaltonen; Minister of Communications Vaino Salovaara; Minister of Trade Dr. Takki and Jalo Aura, Minister of food.

Tanner, whose place in the jumbled political picture is not clear as a result of the tight censorship, actually was leader with President Risto Rytty in the unsuccessful move to form a new government. Subsequently he opposed with other Social Democrats complete collaboration with Germany.

GOP Candidate Flays "Stubborn, Tired, Old Men"

Praises Bricker, His Running Mate

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 28 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey formally accepting the Republican party nomination for the presidency declared tonight that the making of world peace "is no task to be entrusted to stubborn men, grown old and tired and quarrelsome in office."

The stocky New Yorker took over the party reins in the closing ceremony of a national convention which had voted them to him eight hours before, 1936 to 1.

Mrs. Dewey With Governor
Like everyone else in the huge hall, the nominee's face was glowing in the heat. Beside him, when he first appeared before the throng of Republicans and spectators, was Mrs. Dewey.

A white orchid was on the left shoulder of her simple black frock. "No organization for peace will last," Dewey told steaming applauding thousands crammed into this vast indoor bowl, "if it is slipped through by stealth or trickery or the momentary hypnotism of high-sounding phrases."

"We shall have to work and pray and be patient and make sacrifices to achieve a really lasting peace. That is not too much to ask in the name of those who have died for the future of our country. This is no task to be entrusted to stubborn men, grown old and tired and quarrelsome in office. We learned this in 1919."

Introduced by Maerz
Dewey was introduced by Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. of Massachusetts, the convention chairman, as "the next president of the United States."

The nominee wore a gray business suit and a dark maroon tie. Selected today with Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, to try to lead the Republican party on a triumphal march back to the White House, Dewey departed from his prepared speech to say:

"I am happy and proud to be associated with my good friend from the state of Ohio, John W. Bricker."

Praises Gov. Bricker
"For many months John Bricker has gone from state to state telling the people of the issues. Of the great need for a better government, for the sound principles of government, and the leadership which will come to it with a Republican victory this year."

"Never before have I seen such good statesmanship and good sportsmanship as that displayed by John Bricker here this morning, and I am proud to be associated with him."

In tier on tier of seats, the greatest throng yet attracted to the twenty-third Republican convocation, heard Dewey promise:

"On January 20 next year our government will again have a cabinet of the ablest men and women to be found in America."

The 42-year-old former racket buster who would be the youngest president in American history—if he wins in November—injected into his acceptance speech an accent on youth. He laid special emphasis, too, on the assertion that "this election will bring an end to one-man government in America."

Mrs. Dewey Shows Interest
Sitting about 10 feet from where her husband spoke into microphones on the flag-draped platform, Mrs. Dewey's eyes never wandered from her husband as he spoke. On her face was an expression of content and concentration.

Getting out his verbal bludgeon, tingling his voice with sarcasm, the New York governor accused the Roosevelt administration of never having solved this fundamental problem of jobs and opportunity.

"The problem of jobs will not be easily solved," he declared, "but it will never be solved at all unless we get a new, progressive administration in Washington — and that means a Republican administration."

Americans Gain In Saipan Drive

Advance 2 Miles From East Coast

UNITED STATES FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, June 28 (AP)—American troops advanced nearly two miles northward from Saipan East coast while Rota and Guam islands were blasted by carrier bombers and Tinian by naval shelling, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported today.

At the same time Nimitz announced Pacific fleet warships on Sunday night and Monday shelled Kuradu Zaki, the main town at the southern tip of Paramushiro in the Kuriles, more than 3,000 miles north of the Marianas archipelago.

Jap Planes Attack
The communiqué also disclosed a Japanese torpedo plane attack Sunday night on the carrier force screening American transports off Saipan.

Enemy bombers Monday night again attacked the transports off Saipan, but all bombs landed in the water.

Japs Launch Torpedoes
One near miss injured one transport crewman. Enemy planes launched several torpedoes in their attack on the carrier force, but no ships were hit.

On Saipan's flat eastern plain American forces pushed beyond the village of Dornay and Hashigori, near the island's western side further penetrations were made into Garapan, the island's major city, where stubborn Japanese are hiding out in ruined buildings.

The communiqué made no mention of gains in the mountainous center of the island, where the Japanese were dug in on wooded ridge slopes.

Manpower Major Problem
"One result is a delay in our plans to remove stores from rationing," Elliott disclosed.

"But certain shortages we never thought of showed up. No American was willing to think, for instance, that manpower could limit our production, but it is the major problem now."

There will not be enough lumber and lumber products to go around," he declared, adding that the lumber container shortage is holding up production of other items for lack of packaging.

In cotton textiles WPB is now "up against the question: What is essential," Elliott said. Experts now are trying to compile a list of "luxury" fabrics which can be prohibited from manufacture, he stated.

Straight from the Shoulder: Highlights of Dewey's Acceptance Speech at the Chicago Convention

Woman to Earn a Decent Living at a Decent Wage

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—Salient statements from Thomas E. Dewey's address accepting the Republican presidential nomination:

I come to this great task a free man. I have made no pledges, promises or commitments, expressed or implied, to any man or woman. I shall make none except to the American people.

To Americans of every party I pledge that on January 20 next year our government will again have a cabinet of the ablest men and women to be found in America.

This election will bring an end to one-man government in America.

The military conduct of the war is outside this campaign. It is and must remain completely out of politics.

The present administration has never solved this fundamental problem of jobs and opportunity. It can never solve this problem.

It is the New Deal which tells us that America has lost its capacity to grow. We shall never build a better world by listening to those counsels of defeat.

7 Bomber Fleets Attack Germans
The ferocity of the Nazis' resistance to the Yank advance was duplicated clear across the peninsula as the enemy clung stubbornly to every defensive position. Fresh German infantry and guns continued to join the battle, and the fighting was the fiercest since the Gustav and Hitler lines were cracked.

Every civilian was cleared from San Vincenzo before the Americans attacked last night, and for hours the fighting raged from house to house. It was regarded as a sample of what the Allies may expect in every Italian town now between them and the Germans' Pisa-Rimini defense line.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, having halted the disorganized flight of his forces, now obviously was determined to forestall an Allied assault on the "Gotline" line this summer. The rough country prevented swift thrusts by Allied armor.

Four miles inland from San Vincenzo, other American armored forces surrounded and captured the town of Sassetta after a stiff fight with units of an Elite SS division. Also occupied was the village of Chiusdino, 17 miles southwest of the vicinity of San Quirico d'Orcia, 22 miles southeast of Siena, after repulsing repeated Nazi counterattacks.

Eighth army forces registered limited gains at the main points of their attack both west and east of Lake Trasimeno, 80 miles north of Rome, where the Germans have offered bitter resistance. Chiusi, five miles above Chiusdino on the west side of the lake, fell to an Allied tank force after a six-hour fight. On the east side the Eighth army stormed two heights about five miles above Perugia.

Three Task Forces
A British-based Liberator and Flying Fortress group split likewise into three task forces, one going to the railroad yards at Saarbrücken just across the German border, the second streaming over the Paris area for blows on unspecified targets, and the third rumbling in to Laon, 70 miles northeast of Paris, and dropping explosives on a trio of air bases.

Simultaneously, RAF Halifaxes gave flying bomb installations in the Pas-De-Calais their fourth heavy drubbing in less than twenty-four hours.

Somewhat improved weather conditions enabled fighter-bombers to join the almost-endless procession of daylight raiders. They raced along the battle lines in Normandy, hammering convoys, troop concentrations and supply dumps.

Yanks Advancing In North Italy

Nazi Putting Up Tough Resistance

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, June 28 (AP)—American troops pushed within some thirty miles of the big Italian West coast port of Livorno (Leghorn) today after a savage all-night battle in which they hurled the Germans out of San Vincenzo, a little coastal town which had been converted into a fortress.

The ferocity of the Nazis' resistance to the Yank advance was duplicated clear across the peninsula as the enemy clung stubbornly to every defensive position. Fresh German infantry and guns continued to join the battle, and the fighting was the fiercest since the Gustav and Hitler lines were cracked.

Thousands of War Workers Forced To Walk or Ride Bicycles to Work
TOLEDO, O., June 28 (AP)—Thousands of war workers in this industrial city of 300,000 population walked, hunched and bicycled to their jobs today as a strike of AFL-unionists against the Community Traction Company, paralyzed public transportation.

President C. I. Sherman of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees said the strike was in protest against company refusal to discharge two inspectors against whom he added, "every man working for the company has a complaint of ill treatment."

Late today union members voted five to one to continue the strike until the inspectors are removed, they agreed to permit maintenance men to return to work. AFL Organizer William Sturm reported.

Some 350 union members refused to operate street cars and buses, with the exception of two bus lines. The union members buses serving the Roosevelt ordinance plant and the Packard Motor Car Company, both engaged in war production, were not affected.

7 Bomber Fleets Attack Germans

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, June 28 (AP)—In one of the most impressive demonstrations of air power to date the Allies flung seven major heavy bomber squadrons into four European countries today, hammering important enemy installations all the way from France to Romania.

From England, fleets of American and British bombers roared out simultaneously in daylight for the first time, hitting an array of targets from French airfields to railroads within the Reich itself.

The Mediterranean air force—with a force of some 500 heavy bombers plus fighter escorts—smashed two oil refineries at Bucharest, rail yards at Chitila, Romania, on the route to Bucharest from the Ploesti oil fields, and a German airbase at Karlova, Bulgaria.

CHUNGKING, June 28 (AP)—Hengyang, junction of the Canton-Hankow and Huanan and Kwangsi railways, has been encircled completely by hard-driving Japanese forces, the Chinese high command admitted today.

The Chinese high command admitted today that the city, a key rail junction for enemy drives either directly south to capture the rest of the Canton-Hankow route, or southwest toward Kwangsi province.

Chinese still held the vital railway town against battering pressure from the Japanese, a communiqué said, with both sides losing heavily.

Gov. Dewey's Rise to Fame Started As Successful Lawyer in New York

As Successful Lawyer in New York

By WILLIAM W. TYLER

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey shot from comparative obscurity to national prominence with less than a decade.

As short a time ago as 1935, he was a highly successful lawyer in private practice in New York but rarely known to the public. Then Herbert H. Lehman appointed him a special prosecutor of racketeers and Dewey launched on a public career which has been meteoric.

Now only 42 years old, the New York governor is a solidly-built man of about five feet, seven inches, who can and often does work longer hours and at a faster pace than younger associates can match.

In formal speech or casual conversation, his words invariably are direct, incisive, and his voice reflects the fact that in college days at the University of Michigan he was a member of the glee club and later placed third in a national singing competition.

An Appealing Party Platform

THE PLATFORM adopted by the Republicans at Chicago is, as David Lawrence says in his dispatch on this page, the most progressive adopted by the party since the reign of absolutism began nearly a dozen years ago in Washington. It is progressive because it is liberal in the true sense of that term, which is that liberalism means the greater freedom of the individual and the protection and preservation of individual rights. This was the theme properly stressed in Governor Warren's keynote address.

It is an appealing document, the appeal of which will undoubtedly grow as it is examined during the campaign now under way. The outstanding utterance, of course, is that pertaining to the world peace organization. The only sour note about came from Mr. Wilkie, who, still sulking in his tent in the bitterness of frustration, criticized the plank before it was fully completed, and before its interpretation by the presidential nominee, thus giving indication that he was prompted by personal pique to pick flaws in it in spite of hell and high water.

But Mr. Wilkie's ambiguity about the peace organization was as ambiguous as the ambiguity he charges against it, save in his somewhat loose terms about sovereignty, which he said should be "used" and not "hoarded," wherein he countered the undeniable sentiment of the people that American sovereignty should not be surrendered in any world which he indignantly applied to any type of world collaboration or co-operation.

The foreign relations plank, however, is sufficiently flexible to attain the goal which all Americans seek, that of bringing about some sort of international association to establish and maintain peace among sovereign nations, to avert aggressions under organized justice and to back it up with adequate sanctions, which should not consist of force alone. Herein the armed force Mr. Wilkie thinks should be now particularly specified can be employed when necessary. Neither that nor the form of an international council can be determined with exactness until the end of war clarifies the world situation and brings the nations together in peace collaboration. The instrumentality to be devised must be devised there and not here and now in detail.

The foreign relations plank is the most advanced stand on world peace we yet have, incorporating the forward-looking Mackinac Island declaration, which has been generally accepted, and it continues the hope and aspirations of the people that produced for ending aggressions and maintaining peace and security.

Mr. Wilkie, accordingly, appears to be carping about words into which he reads meanings which are just not there. Let us let the Republicans be worried about the stand. The decline of Mr. Wilkie began long ago when he began cavorting around with the Roosevelt ideas, and his fall occurred when he realized that the people would have none of him and he quit the race for the presidency after following the Wisconsin primaries. His following, once large, is now insignificant, and even if he should bolt the party it would be only a tragic blunder for himself.

Particularly comprehensive, fair and impressive is the labor plank, which is definitive and leaves no doubt where the party stands on this important subject, and it is a stand this newspaper believes merits the hearty support of labor, management and the citizenry in general as a program for curing the manifold ills resulting from New Deal messing and selfishness in this field.

The various other planks are timely and persuasive, including means for postwar jobs, extension of social security, elimination of farmer regimentation, reduction of taxes, promotion of free enterprise, limitation of the presidential tenure, adequate preparedness, the checking of federalization and, above all, the speedy prosecution of the war without political or other civilian interference and the re-establishment of liberty at home. All in all, it is a platform that looks carefully, wisely and progressively into the future, seeks to retain all political and social gains that have been achieved and is thoroughly, typically and refreshingly American to the core. It deserves close study on the part of all citizens, particularly those who have been disturbed about the direction this country has been taking under the long-entrenched administration at Washington.

Mr. Hoover's Warning On Power Diplomacy

IN CRISP AND BITING SENTENCES, former President Hoover moved the Republican national convention at Chicago into thunders of approving applause with solemn facts the people should appreciate in this great year of decision. These truths came with an understanding, a vision and a humanitarianism backed by a world experience few men in public life have ever had. Highlighting the address was the warning against personal power diplomacy, which certainly destroyed world peace efforts as it destroyed it at Versailles, and which was unfortunately employed at the secret Tehran conference. The advice for a cautious transition period for the perfection of a peace structure conformed to ideas long advocated by the former president. America, Mr. Hoover rightly declared, needs a change of administration in order to get out of this power diplomacy with which Mr. Roosevelt is playing. It needs it directly for the other things he specified, including the freedom our fighters want to find on returning home, which means a restoration back to you and you eat them!

of the rights taken from citizens under the New Deal regime not only for war but in peacetime. As he stated, "from the beginning, the New Deal in a milder form has followed the tactics of European totalitarian revolutions which have gone before," and there can be no mistaking the trend and its portent. Here, indeed, is a vital issue that must be considered in this campaign.

Mr. Hoover rendered another fine service for his party in his convention speech, which was all the more impressive because it symbolized his years and retirement, and his realization that the torch must be carried forward by the youth of today in whom he places full confidence by reason of the manner in which it is serving the common cause of freedom against totalitarianism.

Baseball Gets a Start in England

BASEBALL is reported to be making some headway in England, although how long it will last when the war is over and the Americans have pulled out for home is a question. Eight professional football clubs in northern England have formed a league to play baseball this summer on the football grounds. Other football leagues in England are watching this experiment, and if it works the movement may expand.

Baseball under American rules started in Liverpool in 1933. A National Baseball Association was formed and spread to Lancashire, Yorktown, Cardiff, Birmingham and London. At the outbreak of the war there were 1,000 baseball clubs in England, most in the north. When the first American troops arrived these clubs loaned them baseball paraphernalia for play. Now the Americans have their own bats, balls and mitts and are helping out the newly-formed English clubs with equipment.

Whether England ever becomes a baseball nation depends upon public response. Popularity is uncertain unless the schools take it up, and they are addicted to football and cricket. The crowds follow the school games. Recently a baseball game in London attracted 4,000 people, which is nothing to brag about. Anyway, it isn't important. The Japs took up baseball in a big way, and much good it did them. They didn't have sense enough to see that it could do them some good.

Amateurish Job In Latin America

THERE IS a general assumption that relations between the United States and Brazil are of the best. That is not true, if the word of Dr. Hernanez Tavares, special adviser from Brazil to the co-ordinator of inter-American affairs, is to be accepted.

"There is a steady deterioration of Brazil-American relations," says Tavares. "That is true of other Latin American countries. I have talked with hundreds of Brazilians and they tell the same story. Large numbers of Americans, mainly from government agencies, are pouring into Brazil and are not 'mentally equipped' to understand that country. They flaunt their own attitudes, disparage the people of Brazil and segregate themselves from the natives," says Tavares.

American radio programs beamed to Brazil are addressed to "twelve-year-old morons." The British radio is on a much higher intellectual level. Brazilians fear America will try to keep the Latin American war and control Brazil militarily. It seems Uncle Sam is doing a most amateurish job in Latin America, despite his expenditure there of hundreds of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money. Unless some one who knows how takes charge, the probability is that the war will after the war will return to the Old World orbit again.

Another sharp difference in the two political party conventions at Chicago was aptly noted by Clare Booth Luce: At the one just held, a candidate for president was nominated; at the one to be held next month, the delegates will be obliged to take a candidate—and like it.

If the Maryland G. O. P. is split all to smithereens, as some of our Democratic friends are saying, it's funny, isn't it, that the state delegation at Chicago voted solidly for Governor Dewey?

Eating Your Words

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Hastily I said something, without thinking. I sent a few words forth to drop or to win their way to earth. Swiftly the Hawk of Truth, waiting in the sun, darted down upon my fluttering words and sank his talons in them and brought them back to me and dropped them at my feet—all bloody, all quivering, all pentitent and ashamed.

And the ruthless Hawk said to me: "Are these your words?"

"Yes," I said, and averted his eyes.

"Then eat them!" screamed the Hawk of Truth and flew swiftly away.

So I ate them.

The words you wish you hadn't spoken make a nauseating dish. They are tainted and filthy and congregate upon them. You wish they weren't yours. They form a tasty banquet.

They are tough. You chew and chew a bitter cud. There are rocks in them that break your teeth. . .

They seem to be the more of them you eat of them. They multiply as you devour them.

Soon you've had enough. They are dry and you choke on them. You look around for a drink of cool water to wash them down. No water anywhere. You eat in a desert. A mirage appears. You see purple grapes hanging from yellow and scarlet vines. The breeze brings fragrant odors of rich food to you. A silver spring gushes from a green meadow. You put forth a hand and the banquet disappears. And the Hawk of Truth perches on a lean, dead limb and croaks, "Eat every one of those words you spoke. You can't have anything else until you do."

It's no fun, eating your words. You say something you know you shouldn't. You lie or release a truth you should have caged. And afterwards, years after, you crawl away into a dark and private corner and eat those words you should never have spoken. They come back to you and you eat them!

ACCEPTING THE CHALLENGE

GOP Platform Is Called Best since New Deal Began

By DAVID LAWRENCE

CHICAGO, June 28.—The Republican case against the New Deal and the Republican program for postwar America when the war is won were summed up with striking similarity in the four main addresses and platform. In a nutshell the Republicans are determined that the peace shall be not soft but stern, that the enemy will be punished and that measures to prevent a third war should be taken by an international organization which is expected to preserve peace.

The Republicans are determined also that the postwar period shall be one of release from the drastic controls imposed by the New Deal and that America shall go back to a government of laws under the constitution and eliminate government by the whims of men.

Keynote Novel

Governor Warren's keynote was novel in the sense that he endeavored to look forward with his party rather than backward. His speech pleased the delegates and struck a responsive chord among independent-minded people because he said quite frankly that the Republican party does not intend to concentrate on past mistakes but to look ahead to what can be done to correct them and yet preserve whatever of good has been done in the last ten or eleven years by the Democratic administration.

Representative Joseph Martin, minority leader of the House, plainly compared the New Deal to totalitarianism. This will be heard again and again in the coming campaign.

Former President Hoover used somewhat the same approach, though he went farther and declared that the Communists have succeeded in getting a considerable influence in the Democratic party.

Hoover's address in respect to foreign policy seemed to parallel that of the administration and would appear to be very much in line with Prime Minister Churchill's views.

Mrs. Luce Eloquent

Representative Clare Luce, of Connecticut, made an eloquent address in which she placed emphasis on what kind of an America the returning soldiers would find. She was pointed in her criticism of the Roosevelt administration for failing to get the nation better prepared in the 30's and for failing to steer the nation by more effective diplomacy with foreign nations.

The platform is the usual hedge-podge which national conventions bring, as the committees try to appease or satisfy various factions within the party. The platform is written broadly so it can be interpreted more specifically by Governor Dewey. The Chicago Tribune damns the foreign policy plank with faint praise and argues that nationalists and internationalists had to be satisfied and hence concessions to both sides left the platform far from what it might otherwise have been but the point is that the Tribune thinks it's "satisfactory."

Flaw-Picking Reference

The platform writers forgot, of course, that the New Deal opposition would pick the flaws in due time, so the platform authors gave Mr. Roosevelt a big opening in stressing the need for a two-thirds vote of the Senate to ratify "any treaty or any agreement" with any other nation or association of nations. The constitution says this anyhow, and the repetition of it in a party platform will be seized upon by the Roosevelt supporters as the manifestation of a purpose to use the one-third group entry into a League of Nations just as happened in 1919. To revive the 1919 fight is to reopen the question of the responsibility for the Second World War. The platform writers might better have omitted reference to the two-thirds, business.

Forward-Looking

The rest of the platform, especially the condemnation of bureaucracy and arbitrary action of executive agencies, is well written and forward-looking in that it accepts "the purposes of the National Labor Relations act, the Wage-and-Hour act, the Social Security act," but promises "a fair and just administration of these laws."

There are significant planks, such as those that favor state rather than federal control of insurance, support for privately owned air lines, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation, unrestricted admission into Palestine of refugees, free press and free radio, reciprocal bilateral tariff agreements and number of others that relate to current controversies and have a special meaning to particular groups of interested voters.

As usual, the party platform seeks wide support from all factions and interests, but this one may be described as a far more progressive document than any adopted by the Republicans since the Roosevelt administration came into power in 1933.

Rise of Mrs. Luce In Public Life Is Termed Justified

By MARK SULLIVAN

CHICAGO, June 28.—You will have heard the speech of Congresswoman Clare Luce, or you can read it in the newspapers. I write preceding its delivery, with an advance copy before me. I choose, however, to say something about the speaker—something which, though personal, is justified by the elevation she has come to have in American public life; something which includes a strange contrast, an extraordinary instance of the changes time can bring.

I first saw Mrs. Luce at another convention, here in Chicago, twelve years ago—the Democratic convention that first nominated Mr. Roosevelt. But to say she was at a political convention is misleading—for it was not as a member of the convention that she was present, nor even as one much interested in politics, nor much aware of the difference between the two parties. She was at that 1932 convention only as an onlooker, one of a party of guests who came with Mr. Bernard Baruch, including Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the late conde Nast, of Vogue and Vanity Fair, and some others.

While merely a guest and on-looker, Mrs. Luce volunteered, in a spirit of helpfulness, to do a bit of typing for Mr. Baruch; and it was in this role that I first noticed her. The table on which the typewriter stood was in a corner of the room, against the wall. Mrs. Luce, tapping the keys with amateur slowness, had her back to the room. In the room several persons were engaged in high argument about what should be the currency plank in the platform—it was a suggested draft of this that Mrs. Luce was typing.

What impressed me, or amused and entertained me, was one of those little off-scene ironies which sometimes, in the midst of weighty matters, intrude into the mind of an observer. Here, standing up and dotting her back and the forward poise of her head suggesting at once concentration and puzzlement—intent upon transcribing fragmentary notes that had been hand-written by Mr. Baruch or some of the other pundits.

As I looked, my feeling was, it was a pity, on a lovely June day, that youth and beauty should be chained to the gears of politics and fiscal erudition. Had I that day been given a million guesses on what would be the future course and destiny of that slender girl in a polka-dot dress—her back and the forward poise of her head suggesting at once concentration and puzzlement—intent upon transcribing fragmentary notes that had been hand-written by Mr. Baruch or some of the other pundits.

That she had rare qualities, one became aware upon acquaintance with her. They included crystal clarity of mind, sinewy intellectual muscles, but they included also qualities of utter femininity—such as, added to her charm, might have suggested that her career would be feminine and private, rather than public.

Possibly one might have foreseen the writing career she came to have preceding her political one. She knew literature. In her youth out of a deep instinctive taste, she had read poetry avidly, and some of it she kept in mind not merely for pleasure but as truth for the understanding of life. It is this poetic insight—into the heart of G. I. Jim, and G. I. Jim's mother—that makes her convention speech so moving and so true.

Richardson Report Denied

Fans Wilhelm Rohl, German-born contractor, whose firm of Hawaiian constructors failed to complete aircraft warning stations just prior to Pearl Harbor, received a setback from the War department recently.

Rohl claimed a so-called "Richardson report"—allegedly prepared after investigation by Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson—completely exonerated him of blame in delaying the warning set-up which, if completed, might have prevented or greatly reduced the Pearl Harbor damage.

However, the House Military Affairs committee was informed, by the War department, General Richardson never made such a report.

The House report held Rohl and Col. Theodore Wymann, Jr., army engineer, jointly responsible for the delayed warning system.

Roosevelt Demands Wallace

Despite reports of a Democratic party rebellion over retention of Vice President Henry A. Wallace for another term, President Roosevelt is understood to be urging party politicians to go down the line for Wallace's renomination at Chicago next month.

The president's reasoning is reported to be as follows: Wallace has faithfully supported administration policies, even in the face of some White House criticism. Other party followers, such as Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, are best suited in their present posts rather than as vice presidential candidates.

Washington observers also recalled that Mr. Roosevelt commented in connection with the vice president's trip to China that Wallace would return in time for the Democratic convention July 19.

Marianas Capture Will Likely Bring Philippine Drive

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Once American forces secure the main points in the Mariana Islands, watch for a quick drive into the Philippine area.

All indications point to the possibility that forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur or Adm. Chester Nimitz, or both, simultaneously, may be hammering through the Philippine defenses this summer or autumn.

With air and submarine bases in the Marianas, Nimitz could virtually cut all Japanese supply lines to the Philippines as soon as he clears the Japs out of Biak and surrounding islands in the New Guinea area.

MacArthur's next offensive may be into Halmahera island, which would provide an excellent jumping-off place for a strike into the southern Philippines.

Many Stock Leaders Decline, But Motors, Specialties Gain

By BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—Most standard leaders lost ground in today's stock market but heavy buying converged on low priced motors and specialties and gains in these ranged from fractions to around two points.

The pivots, at new seven-year highs Tuesday on the fall of Cherbourg, were down from the start. The Associated Press sixty-stock composite declined 2 of a point to 55.4.

A wave of buying in Willys-Overland touched off the boomlet in the low quoted automobile and accessory shares. This section of the list accounted for a sharp rise in activity in the final hour which left the day's volume at 1,745,810 shares against 2,179,135 yesterday.

Willys-Overland showed a final 2-point gain. Advances ranged to a point for Continental Motors, Hayes Manufacturing, Nash-Kelvinator, Hudson Motors, White Motors and Murray Corp.

American Telephone and American Gas each climbed a point while losers of fractions to around a point included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Harvester, Westinghouse, duPont, Santa Fe, Southern Railway and Chesapeake and Ohio.

In the curb higher prices were paid for American Cyanamid, Glen Alden Coal, Republic Aviation and Cities Service. Niagara Hudson Power and Puget Sound Power and

INDEPENDENCE DAY 1944

Here, in the Immortal Words of our Fighting Forefathers, is

WHAT WE ARE FIGHTING FOR TODAY!

NO FINER STATEMENTS OF THE PRINCIPLES OF HUMAN FREEDOM EXIST, THAN THOSE WHICH FOLLOW. AS AN AMERICAN, READ THEM.

From the Declaration of Independence, adopted by the Continental Congress, in Philadelphia, on July 4, 1776.

"WE HOLD these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness... And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

From the Constitution of the United States, adopted by a convention of States' delegates, in Philadelphia, on Sept. 17, 1787. These are the words of its Preamble:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

From Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, delivered Nov. 19, 1863 on the field where the climactic battle of the Civil War had been fought on July 1-3 of that year.

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal...

It is for us the living... to be dedicated... to the unfinished work which they who fought... have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Mr. and Mrs. Blutworth To Be Honored Saturday

Dinner Party Will Be Given for Them at Cumberland Country Club

A dinner party will be given by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilbur Seymour and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Mills, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blutworth at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at the Cumberland Country Club. Covers will be laid for thirty guests.

Mr. Blutworth, chemical engineer of the Celanese Corporation of America, is in charge of the company's new plant at Bishop, thirty miles from Corpus Christi, Texas. The new plant, producing a wide range of chemicals, is the result of exhaustive petroleum product research under the direction of Mr. Blutworth, who has concentrated on oil research since joining the Celanese company in 1943. Mr. Blutworth, who has been in New York for the past few days, will arrive here Saturday for a week before returning to Texas. Mrs. Blutworth will leave the first part of the week for Corpus Christi, where they will reside.

Others who have entertained in honor of Mrs. Blutworth are members of her Thursday afternoon bridge club, who entertained at the summer cottage of Mrs. Arthur Fowler on the South Branch of the Potomac; members of the Tuesday evening bridge club, who held a dinner party at the Ali Ghan Shrine

Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mills, who entertained with a dinner Tuesday evening at the Cumberland Country Club, in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. Fred Mills, and Mrs. Blutworth; and Mrs. Seymour, who entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home, MacDonald terrace.

Pleasant Grove Club Plans Twilight Picnic

The Pleasant Grove Homemakers Club will hold its July meeting in the form of a "twilight picnic" at 6 o'clock July 18, with members of the nutrition committee in charge. Plans were discussed at the meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Miller, Baltimore pike. The place for the picnic will be announced later.

Mrs. Leslie Hinkle reported the committee had completed 127 articles which they had sent to the Red Cross. Reports on the Homemakers day held June 20 at the Lord Baltimore hotel, Baltimore, were given by Mrs. R. J. Mink, Mrs. P. P. McEliff, Mrs. R. N. Wilson, Mrs. Perry Wilson, Mrs. Theodore Rice and Mrs. Roy E. Smith.

The roll call was answered with something interesting you did or plan to do on your vacation. The program also included the group singing of the hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," and the recitation in unison of the Lord's Prayer. Sixteen members and two visitors, Miss Wilson and Margaret Conners, attended.

ARRIVES OVERSEAS—Sgt. Evelyn M. Wolford of the WAC has arrived in the South Pacific area. Before her enlistment in December, 1942, she lived with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Wagner, 1723 Bedford street. Sgt. Wolford took part in an induction ceremony May 12 at the Strand theater, when twelve local women were sworn into the WAC.

ST. JOHN'S LUTHERAN VACATION SCHOOL TO PRESENT PROGRAM

The Daily Vacation church school of St. John's Lutheran church will hold its closing exercises at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening at the church. Parents of the children enrolled in the school, their friends and the general public are invited to attend. Following the commencement exercises a display of the handiwork and accomplishments will be conducted by the teachers in various departments of the school.

The school, which opened June 19, is under the general supervision of Mrs. D. A. Roth and the Rev. Edward P. Heinze, pastor, is held at the school. Other instructors are Mrs. William Aronhalt, Mrs. Margaret Grodwin and Miss Norma Avers of the beginning department; Mrs. Merle Simpson, Mrs. Carl Reuschel, Mrs. Griffith Haxell and Miss Louise Lathrum, primary department; Mrs. E. P. Heinze, Mrs. Wilson Couters, junior department; Miss Frances Aronhalt and the Rev. Mr. Heinze, intermediate department. Mrs. Robert Geismann is secretary-treasurer of the school and Miss Mary Louise Bender, pianist.

Potomac Valley Homemakers Will Give Picnic

The Potomac Valley Homemakers Club will hold its next meeting in the form of a picnic at which time it will entertain the families of the members: the Riverside Boys and Girls 4-H Club; the Progressive Young Women's Club of Reading; their families; and the Cresap Homemakers Club with their families.

Plans were formulated at the meeting of the club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. S. Rawlings, with Mrs. J. William Loar presiding. The picnic will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Barton, McMillen highway. Mrs. Mary McGraw Howe, of the Potomac Edison Company, gave an illustrated demonstration on the care and repair of electrical equipment in the home. She stressed the fact that one ounce of prevention, which in this case means care, is certainly worth a pound of cure of repair.

Following the program a recreational period was held with more games prepared by the members than there was time to use. Awards were won by Mrs. Loar and Mrs. Howe. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. H. B. Kiser.

McKinley Chapter To Meet Friday

McKinley Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its semi-monthly business session at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, with Mrs. Margaret Will and Myers G. Light presiding.

The entertainment program will be in the form of a card party with bridge, 500, set back and dominoes being played. Mrs. Lillie Miller and Mrs. Marian Cook will be in charge of the party, with Mrs. Grace Storer chairman of the refreshments.

Mrs. Whitehead Honored

Mrs. Fred T. Dodge and Mrs. Herbert Platt entertained in honor of Mrs. Constance Whitehead, Rye, N. Y., former resident here, who is visiting Miss Sophie Deneen, with a bridge-luncheon, yesterday afternoon at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Three tables were in play and Mrs. Whitehead was presented a guest prize, other awards were won by Mrs. John Beatwick and Mrs. J. Milton Twigg. Assorted flowers decorated the room and carried out the rainbow color scheme, which was repeated in the tables.

Centre Street Methodist School To Give Program

Students of Daily Vacation Bible School Will Participate

The Daily Vacation Bible School, which has been held at Centre Street Methodist church, for the past two weeks, will close tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, at which time a program will be given by the students completing the work. All parents are invited to attend this program. The Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D. D., will present the certificates and give the benediction. The program will consist of four parts, the opening exercise, the special arrangements by the beginning-primary departments, the junior department and the intermediate department. The first will include the singing of "America" and the hymn "Lord, When We Have Not any Light," salute to the American and Christian flags; the story of "Growing Ship's Masts," by Miss Phyllis Daugherty; John Wesley's Table Grace and morning prayer.

For the beginning-primary department Donald Upchurch will offer the prayer and with Marie Goldsmith will sing a duet, Robert Whitelaw will give a recitation and the entire group will present, "Pinner Family," the "Princess Game" and sing, "Friends."

The junior department will open its part of the program by reciting the junior motto in unison, after which Anne Thompson will define the motto; Patricia Lease will give a work picture of junior activities; Richard Dailey will outline the origin of the Christian flag.

Demonstrations of memory work will be given with Charles Wickard reciting the Ten Commandments; Pauline Young, the Twenty-third Psalm; Richard Dailey the One Hundredth Psalm; Doris Long, the John 3-16; Doris Burton, the Golden Rule and Table Grace; Lillian Starke, the Lord's Prayer; Robert Hite, John 11-35; and Anne Thompson will play a piano solo, "The Spinning Song," and the entire department will sing, "Tell Me the Story of Jesus."

The intermediate department will sing, "This Is My Father's World," Wilda Winterberg will speak on the books of the Old Testament; and Margaret Anne Knippenburg on the New Testament. There will also be a display of the handiwork of the students.

MT. TABOR W.S.C.S. PLANS PENNY SUPPER

The Mt. Tabor Women's Society of Christian Service decided, at the meeting yesterday, the Spring Gap Community center, to change the time of the summer meetings from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. the last Wednesday of each month.

Members also decided to hold a penny supper on July 28, to be served at the community center between 5 and 7 o'clock under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Taschenberger. The society also voted to purchase the dozen chairs for the center, which were originally planned to be bought last January.

Reports were given by Mrs. C. L. Daniels and Mrs. Merle Reckley on the reception held in honor of Rev. Mr. Richardson, new pastor at Oldtown, at which time the Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D. D., pastor of Centre Street Methodist church, spoke on the general history of the Oldtown church. A musical program was also presented, and refreshments served.

The missionary chairman, Mrs. Reckley, read a letter from Lillian Rockwell, missionary, congratulating the society on its 1943 missionary work; Mrs. John W. Davis, president, read a letter from Mrs. Loretta Davis, thanking the society for their help in fixing a home for her after her home was destroyed by fire several weeks ago.

Mrs. Walter Taschenberger conducted the worship service; and with Mrs. William Taschenberger and Miss Alma Taschenberger served refreshments, following the meeting.

Eleszar Wheelock, who founded Dartmouth college, was graduated from Yale in 1733.

Girl Scout Day Camp Will Close Friday Afternoon

The closing exercises of the Girl Scout-day camp will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Kiwanis Sunshine campsite and the parents of all the children are invited by Mrs. Robert N. Angier, director, to attend. Each unit will appear as the country it represented during the camping season and the program will close with all joining in the group singing of "We Are All Americans." There will also be a display of the handiwork.

Brownie Unit No. 1 with Mrs. Meriam Engstrom, leader, assisted by Louise Burton and Jean Robinson, will appear in Dutch costume and will do a Dutch dance and recite an appropriate poem. Brownie Unit No. 2 with Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, leader, assisted by Shirley Brode and Ann Orris, will represent Scotch lassies and dance a Scotch dance. Unit No. 3, with Mrs. David Powers and Mrs. Eugene Purlock, leaders, will appear as Hawaiians and dance a Hawaiian number with a native song. Unit No. 4 with Mrs. Ruth Lee Andrews, assisted by Miss Ellen Newman, will wear Chinese costumes and Mandarin hats and carry fans for their Chinese dance. Mrs. Walter H. Hindle supervised the making of all the costumes.

Speaking of the two weeks camping period, which was held in the form of an "International Camp," Mrs. Angier said last evening that it was the largest ever held, with an average attendance of eighty-seven girls a day. The program opening with the raising of the flag each morning, included nature hikes, woodcraft for the camp units, noon cook-outs each day and closing with assembly at 4 o'clock.

Shower Is Given For Mrs. Isaacs

By Miss Douglas

Miss Meriam Douglas entertained in honor of Mrs. A. Tabler Isaacs, with a miscellaneous shower, Tuesday evening at her home in LaVale.

The former Miss Mary Louise Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Dawson, 212 Washington street, became the bride of Mr. Alvin Tabler Isaacs, Truxfield, Madison, Wis., son of Mrs. G. Austin Sprecher, Catonsville and the late Alvin T. Isaacs, January 24. She was graduated last evening from the University of Maryland, College Park and will leave today to join her husband in Madison.

A treasure hunt featured the entertainment and ended with the bride finding the treasure of show-ers gifts. Bridge concluded the evening with two tables in play. The award was won by Miss Meriam Wintermyer.

A pink and blue color scheme was carried out in the bouquet of larkspur in a low silver bowl which centered the table with pink tapers in silver candleabra at either end. The same color scheme was repeated in the tallies and flowers throughout the house.

Spring Gap Club Plans Open House

The Spring Gap Homemakers Club will hold an open house Friday at the home of Mrs. Loretta Davis, Spring Gap. It will be held from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock in the evening and will be in the form of a "pound party."

Since Mrs. Davis's home and furnishings were completely destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock the morning of June 13, the Spring Gap Homemakers Club renovated the abandoned house on the farm, belonging to Mrs. Davis' two sons, Luke and Mark, serving overseas, and furnished it. All friends of the club are invited to attend.

The maximum length of Wales is 136 miles.

Local Couple To Observe Silver Wedding Event

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Heffer Will Make Trip to Atlantic City

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Heffer, 230 Arch street, will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary with a trip where they went on their honeymoon to Atlantic City, N. J. They will leave for a ten-day trip to Atlantic City, this evening, accompanied by Mrs. Heffer's nephew, William, Birmingham, whom they have adopted.

Miss Florence May Howe, daughter of the late Alfred E. and Mary H. Howe, North Centre street, became the bride of William E. Heffer, son of the late Mrs. Eugenia A. Goode, this city, and the late John Heffer, Topeka, Kan., in a double wedding ceremony with the bridegroom's mother becoming the bride of the Rev. Thomas Goode Fairmont, W. Va.

The ceremony was performed July 4, 1919, at the Maryland avenue home of Mrs. Bruce Bennett, sister of Mr. Heffer, with the Rev. John W. Balderston, then pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Heffer have lived in Cumberland since their marriage.

and had one child, William, died in infancy. Mr. Heffer is the trade of pipefitter with the timore and Ohio railroad. He past nine and one-half years has been employed in the engineering department of the Celanese Corporation of America, is member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie No. 249; the Order of Moose, No. 271; the Order American Mechanics Union, No. 100, Daughters of America, No. 100, Daughters of America, of the Board of Officers of Daughters of America, and Mr. Heffer are members of the Holy Cross Episcopal church.

Honored on Birthday

Mrs. Everett M. Weakley, tained in honor of her daughter, Mary Catherine, celebrating eighth birthday, with a party evening at her home in Ridgeley. The usual children's game, played with "Farmer in the Sky" and "Pin the Tail on the Don" featuring a pink and white scheme was carried out in the decorations and the birthday with pink candles. Thirteen children attended.

Choice Lamb Cuts, Few Cheeses, Back On Ration List

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, June 28—(P)—Choice lamb cuts and some cheeses go back on the ration list Sunday and current values on beef steaks and roasts go up one to two points a pound, the Office of Price Administration announced tonight.

In ordering the first important changes since most meat was removed from rationing May 4, Price Administrator Chester Bowles said: "We are restoring points to choice lamb cuts not because of any expected decrease in supply, but because such cuts have been very unevenly distributed."

"We are forced to increase the point values for the most popular cuts of beef because we will have a 12 per cent decrease in supply of rationed beef for distribution to civilians in July."

Bowles said three out of every four OPA district offices had reported that lamb was short of demand, and in a majority of areas it was scarce. Choice steaks, chops and roasts are the cuts returned to rationing. Values range from three to ten points a pound, slightly higher than in April.

The increase ordered for beef raises point values for the choice cuts to the highest level since the start of rationing, OPA said.

The new red point chart, covering the period through July 29, continues butter at twelve points a pound and margarine at two. Cheddar cheese remains at ten points a pound, but the so-called perishable varieties, ration-free the last ten days, go back on the list at four points a pound, instead of at the ten-point value they had previously.

More Women Workers Needed in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, June 28—(P)—The Maryland War Manpower Commission reported tonight that women in the Baltimore area were not replacing in war jobs the men who had been drafted or left the city for other reasons, despite a continued campaign to recruit the women into industry.

Grafton Lee Brown, assistant WMC state director, said that total employment in major war plants had declined from 240,000 in March to 229,000 as of May 31 when about 2,000 fewer women were employed. He said that the industries had lost 18,500 workers in the six months from Nov. 1 to May 1.

Immediate success of a door-to-door recruitment campaign, inaugurated last October, had been negligible, "but for some time following this initial campaign there was increased hiring of woman workers," Brown stated.

Maryland Soldiers Honored by Army

WASHINGTON, June 28—(P)—One Maryland officer has been awarded a second bronze oak leaf cluster to the distinguished flying cross and an enlisted man has received a first bronze oak leaf cluster, the War department reported today.

First Lt. Paul F. Jacob, of Baltimore, received the second bronze oak leaf and Staff Sgt. Edward H. Leahy of Chevy Chase received the first bronze oak leaf.

HAVE YOU A TRUE PICTURE OF YOUR ELECTRIC BILL?

MANY folks don't. They're as far from the real facts as this photo in an amusement park mirror!

Proof? In a nation-wide survey, 42% of the people sharply overestimated the amount of their last electric bill. 59% didn't realize that rates had been reduced in the last fifteen years — and 95% didn't realize how much!

Actually, the average American family gets about twice as much electricity today as it did fifteen years ago for the same money.

"For the same money." That's the clue. You don't realize that rates are down, because your bill may be as much as it was fifteen years ago—or perhaps even more. But you have more electric appliances now. You're using more electricity — and you get about twice as much for what you pay.

Keeping electric production up and electric prices down is not easy in wartime — when other costs and taxes are soaring. But your electric company has done it — by careful planning, hard work and sound business management.

Gov. Dewey's

nor in 1942, was the first of his party to gain the office in twenty years.

At Albany, he has appointed as heads of state departments and to other key jobs, men who, for the most part, have had little or no background in state politics.

Successful Governor

In urging Dewey for the Republican presidential nomination, friends pointed to his eighteen months' administration of New York affairs as one of "reason, rationalism and restraint."

They also pointed to the $103,000,000 surplus which Dewey reported last April 1. This has been frozen in a special fund, created on his recommendation, to provide postwar jobs for veterans and those leaving war industries.

Over opposition of many Republicans, Dewey put through a reapportionment of New York state legislative districts which had not been revised since 1917.

Some Republicans told Dewey the bill he recommended was poor politics, and that some Republicans called it unconstitutional. But Dewey, having pledged reapportionment in his 1942 campaign, was adamant.

The Republican-controlled legislature thereupon approved the measure and the state's highest court subsequently held it constitutional.

Friend of Veterans

The reapportionment was a highlight of broad legislative programs, including extensive aid for war veterans, recommended by Dewey and endorsed in their entirety by the 1943 and 1944 legislatures.

The governor takes his chief relaxation in the executive mansion swimming pool or at golf at his Pawling, N. Y., farm to which he goes with Mrs. Dewey and their sons, Tommy, 11, and John, 8, whenever opportunity offers. The governor and Mrs. Dewey, the former Miss Francis Eileen Hunt, of Sherman, Texas, were married in 1928.

Dewey, born in Oswego, Mich., March 24, 1902, first saw New York city as a student at Columbia law school from which he was graduated in 1925.

Four Deeds Are Filed for Record

Four deeds, three purchase money mortgages and one chattel mortgage were filed for record yesterday in the office of the clerk of circuit court.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Miller and others sold to Thomas Orval Jackson and Veronica Catherine Jackson a property on the north side of Harrison street. Consideration, according to revenue stamps, was about $6,900. Sidney Dantzle transferred to Lafayette Calvin Bobo a property near Twenty-first Bridge.

Lorenza D. Lambert sold to Martha A. Murray a property near Allegany Grove. Revenue stamps indicated the consideration to be about $2,200. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thornton Frame transferred to Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Duckworth a property near the southern edge of the old Georges Creek and Cumberland railroad.

Join the WAVES

Charlowe June Montgomery, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Montgomery, live in Keyser, W. Va., was sworn into the WAVES June 24, according to the local navy recruiting station. A brother, William, left Sunday for service in the navy.

GOP Candidate

against Dewey. Bricker was nominated unanimously.

Wendell L. Willkie, who did not like the foreign policy plank ratified by the convention, nevertheless was quick to congratulate Dewey.

"You have one of the great opportunities of history," he said.

The wartime ban on telegraphed congratulations stopped Willkie's telegram at its source in New York, but at Albany Dewey heard of it by radio, and swiftly expressed his "many thanks."

Complete Harmony Reigns

The convention today was a scene of hand-holding harmony. It shrieked and whistled at mentions of men who might have been picked but weren't. It had doubts for a time about who would get second place, but not for long.

Once it buckled down to work it became obvious a clear-cut pattern had been worked out over night for it to follow.

Dewey-Bricker forces were in complete command. Action unfolded like a quick-breaking play from a T-formation.

Governor Dwight Griswold of Nebraska nominated Dewey.

"The past will have its spokesman in this campaign. I give to you, as the nominee of the Republican party, the spokesman of the future, Thomas E. Dewey."

Demonstration for Dewey

Banners and placards leaped magically into hands of delegates and whirled aloft in frenzied acclaim. For twenty minutes, men and women streamed up and down the aisle, yelling, perspiring in a stadium that steamed like a Turkish bath.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin banged for order with a gavel that looked like an undersized beer keg with a handle.

Bricker, tall, gray, composed moved up to the speaker's stand.

Another outburst from the delegates. Bricker posters went aloft in the sultry stadium air. Cries of "we want Bricker."

Bricker States Views

The Ohio governor, who had wanted the presidential nomination and had said so, said he was deeply grateful to those who had backed his presidential aspirations. But he was "more interested in defeating the New Deal philosophy of absolutism" than in "being president of these United States."

He understood, as did the delegates, that it is the overwhelming desire of this convention to nominate a great, vigorous, fighting young American—the noble, the dramatic and the appealing governor of the great state of New York, Thomas E. Dewey.

So, he said, he was asking his Ohio delegation to cast its vote for Dewey.

In the Ohio section of the delegate seats, Dewey placards appeared.

Senator Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota took the podium, his face serious and tired. For days he had been leading a battle for Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

"As long as there was the slightest chance of Stassen's nomination," he said, "we were determined to present his name to this convention. Governor Bricker's eloquent statement has eliminated any chance that existed. Minnesota's delegation has therefore decided not to present Stassen's name to this convention."

It was all over then but the halting.

Dirksen Backs Dewey

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the only avowed candidate for the presidential nomination other than Bricker, pledged his support to Dewey.

Seconding speeches were made by Gov. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York.

To Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania was given the privilege of nominating Bricker for vice-president.

"We named a young and vigorous and courageous man to lead us in the battle this fall," Martin declared. "He needs a man with similar qualifications to assist him."

Martin Names Bricker

"I want to place in nomination a man of real courage, starting back in that little log house where he was born, and carried out as governor of the great state of Ohio."

A seconding speech came from Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, who had to make major repairs on an address in which he had planned originally to nominate Bricker for the presidency.

Seconds came, too, from Governors Harry P. Kelly of Michigan and Simeon S. Willis of Kentucky, and from Senator John Danaher of Connecticut.

The roll was called again, and this time there wasn't even one dissenting vote.

Haegg Defeated By Arne Anderson

STOCKHOLM, June 28 (AP)—Arne Anderson defeated Gunder Haegg in a 1,500-meter race today in the first meeting in two years of Sweden's two top runners.

Anderson turned the 1,500 meters in Stockholm stadium in 3:48.8 to finish ahead of Haegg who was timed in 3:50.2. Haegg led at the start, but Anderson, who holds the world record of 3:45 for the distance, won with a finishing spurt.

Anderson said the track was good, despite a morning rain. He indicated, however, that the muggy weather prevented a new record being set.

Today's victory was Anderson's first over Haegg, he having spurred his countryman to clockings heard round the world in their previous meetings. It was while Haegg was in America last year that Anderson set his 3:45 mark for the mile, eclipsing Haegg's best of 4:04.6.

Twilight Tear Wins Her Eighth Victory in Row

Calumet Farm Miss Captures Princess Doreen Stakes at Arlington

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—Twilight Tear, the Calumet farm's sprightly miss, established herself as the greatest filly of the year today by chalking up her eighth consecutive victory in winning the $10,000 added Princess Doreen stakes at Arlington park.

Packing top weight of 121 pounds and backed down to 2 to 5 in the wagering, the three-year-old daughter of Bull Lake came from behind to win by a length and a half. The pace-setting Bell Song, a son of 1 shot, owned by Dr. Estle Asbury of Lexington, Ky., was second, with Harriet Sue, owned by Hyman Fireberg, of Louisville, Ky., third, in a field of six. Duranza, second choice in the betting, finished fourth.

Twilight Tear was ridden by Joekey Conn McCreary under special ruling of the Illinois Racing Board, which allowed him to fulfill all his stake engagements.

The sensational filly covered the six furlongs in 1:10 3/5, just two-fifths of the track record established by Roman, carrying 118 pounds, four years ago.

McCreary was suspended on Monday for the balance of the meeting for holding Al Bodiou, a rival rider, in their thrilling stretch finish.

Twilight Tear returned $3.80, $2.60 and $2.20, with Bell Song paying $17.60 to place and $4.80 to show. The show price on Harriet Sue was $2.80.

The victory was worth $8,050, which brought Twilight Tear's earnings this season to $55,240.

Cumberland Legion 12, K of C 3
Iron Firemen 14, McIntyre Tigers 3

Four games were played yesterday in the Victory Junior Baseball League and after the barrage, two of the six clubs which had shared first place found themselves in a tie for fifth position.

The Iron Firemen, Cumberland Legion, Lonaconing Legion and Frostburg Legion registered triumphs to remain in a deadlock for the playoff spot. The Firemen blasted the McIntyre Tigers 14-3 on the North End Playground field, the Cumberland Legion trimmed the Knights of Columbus 12-3 at Community park, Lonaconing Legion whipped DeMolay 10-1 at Campobello, and Frostburg Legion defeated Liberty Dairy 5-3 at Fort Hill. The losses dropped the Tigers and Casey out of a share of the top spot.

Jack Kaufman went all the way for the Firemen, giving the Tigers eight blows. It was a close game for the last of the sixth when the winners exploded for eight runs. Lou Baker led the Firemen's attack with two hits, one a double. Dick DeHart and Bill Stanley shared four of the Tigers' fatalities.

The DeMolay tallied its only run in the first inning when Eyer singled and stole second, third and home. Nick Unicek gave the losers only two hits with Morris getting the other. A seven-run uprising by Coney in the fourth sewed up the contest. The game was called after

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers in both games of a double-header, 12-6 and 6-2 today, to end the Dodgers' winning streak of five straight.

The Cubs battered Whit Wyatt for ten hits in the opener, chasing him from the mound in the fifth with a five-run barrage. Bill Nicholson fired the big gun in that frame with a bases-full home run off Les Webber, who relieved Wyatt.

Nicholson added another homer in the eighth.

A four-run rally in the third inning of the second game was enough to win for the Cubs. Phil Cavarretta tripled to win the game and scored on Paul Waner's wild throw to account for the runs. The scores:

Dodgers Stopped Twice by Bruins

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers in both games of a double-header, 12-6 and 6-2 today, to end the Dodgers' winning streak of five straight.

The Cubs battered Whit Wyatt for ten hits in the opener, chasing him from the mound in the fifth with a five-run barrage. Bill Nicholson fired the big gun in that frame with a bases-full home run off Les Webber, who relieved Wyatt.

Nicholson added another homer in the eighth.

A four-run rally in the third inning of the second game was enough to win for the Cubs. Phil Cavarretta tripled to win the game and scored on Paul Waner's wild throw to account for the runs. The scores:

Paper Collected Here May Be Used In Plasma Cartons

Two-day Roundup Nets 33 Tons; Drive Will Be Concluded Friday

Wastepaper being collected this week in Cumberland may be converted into blood plasma containers for shipment to Uncle Sam's fighting forces on many fronts throughout the world, W. Donald Smith, chairman of the Allegheny County Salvage Committee, announced last evening.

Smith said he was advised by the War Production Board that the Container Corporation of Philadelphia, Pa., manufacturers of blood plasma containers, is badly in need of wastepaper at the present time and mills at that plant have been closed down several days a week recently due to the lack of paper.

The county chairman said that he will know today just where the present shipment of wastepaper will be allocated by the WPB.

Meanwhile Emmett A. Dougherty reported that yesterday's collection north of Baltimore street and Baltimore avenue netted seventeen tons, increasing the two-day total to approximately thirty-three tons.

While the present four-day collection is not expected to equal that of the last drive in April '30, Dougherty attributed this to the fact that less than two months had elapsed whereas there was a period of three months between the collections of January and April.

Dougherty, however, predicted that the four-day collection will bring about fifty tons of wastepaper.

Four trucks were used to move paper from in front of homes to the loading depot in the B. & O. rolling mill yard yesterday. Seven men and nine boys were employed in the operation.

LaVale Section Included

Today the section south of Baltimore street, Baltimore avenue to and including Oldtown road will be visited by the trucks. The LaVale section also will be canvassed today. Tomorrow the section south of Oldtown road will be the scene of operations.

Cpl. Andrew Long Services Are Held

Funeral services for Cpl. Andrew G. Long, 27, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George L. Long, 89 Greene street, who was killed last Friday in an automobile accident near Monticello, Ga., were conducted yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Peter and Paul Catholic church. Interment was in the church cemetery.

The Rev. Valentine Long, O.F.M., Cap. of St. Bonaventure college, Olean, N. Y., brother of Cpl. Long, was celebrant of the solemn requiem mass. The Rev. Boniface Weckman, O.F.M., Cap. pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic church, Charleston, W. Va., was deacon, and the Rev. Francis J. McKown, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, was sub-deacon.

Others in the sanctuary were the Rev. Irenaeus Reil, pastor of St. Peter and Paul Catholic church; the Rev. Lawrence P. Landrum, pastor of the Rev. W. Joyce Russell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church; the Rev. Charles W. Bogan, assistant of St. Patrick's church; the Rev. Alvin Shields, the Rev. Victoriano Reiser and the Rev. Brian Rhoads, Franciscan priests from Holy Name college, Washington, D. C., and the Rev. Hugh Van Breda, O.F.M., Cap. of St. Bonaventure college.

Palbearers were William Martz, John Lippold, Joseph Stakem, John Wolfhove, Staff Sgt. Edward News and Cpl. Ernest Ventrell, from Camp Wheeler, Ga.

Members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, who formed the color guard, were Earl Brodie, Robert C. Hascall, Truman Fuller, Harry Barley and G. Ray Lippold. Joseph Pradiska blew taps.

The guard of honor was composed of eight members of Companies C and D of the Maryland State Guard.

BENJAMIN MCCLARY RITES
Funeral services for Benjamin J. McClary, 65, retired B. and O. telegrapher, of 108 South Centre street, who died Tuesday evening in Allegheny hospital, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Kaufman funeral home, Hagerstown, by the Rev. Mr. Wagoner, pastor of the Hagerstown Reformed church. Interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery there. The body was taken to Hagerstown early this morning.

A native of Hagerstown, he was a son of the late Jacob and Florence Thornsburg McClary. He became a telegraph operator here when he was 19 and was in continuous service until he retired seven years ago. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Owen Seidenburg, Washington, D. C., two brothers, Norman B., Oil City, Pa., and Rydick, New Haven, Conn., and two sisters, Mrs. Rachel Mesner, Baltimore, and Mrs. Nell Frey, Welch, W. Va.

SATISFIED PIGEON—John C. Shoupe, 18 North Smallwood street, is shown holding a carrier pigeon that came to his home last Friday night after being buffeted about in a windstorm. The bird was released yesterday afternoon just after the picture was taken but wouldn't leave the Shoupe property. It flew as far as the Shoupe's garage roof and then returned to the basement of the home to roost for the night.

Storm-Buffered Carrier Pigeon Finds New Home and Won't Leave

Bird Is Turned Loose but Returns To Spend the Night

The question in this case is whether or not a carrier pigeon is tired of carrying or if it just likes the treatment it received at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shoupe, 18 North Smallwood street.

At any rate, it won't go away, which is all right with Mrs. Shoupe who is rapidly developing into a pigeon fancier. And which also might prove there is something like home—especially to this pigeon.

It all started last Friday night in a wind and rain storm here when the pigeon became a guest at the Shoupe home. To say the least, the pigeon wasn't bashful. It made itself perfectly at home, taking advantage of the Shoupe generosity to eat plenty of grain and drink its fill of water.

She opened the door, thinking the bird would fly away but instead, it walked toward her to be promptly shut the door and called her husband.

Then Mr. Shoupe opened the door and in walked the pigeon without any invitation whatever. It appeared to be a bit disheveled (is that the right word?) from being buffeted about in the storm but soon recovered its usual appearance and made itself quite at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoupe, being hospitable people, offered the bird some chick feed they happened to have on hand and the pigeon proceeded to eat its fill and drink up all the water placed before it.

Noting that the pigeon bore an aluminum band on its leg with the initials "MPC" and "IP" and the numerals "41" and "115" and a rubber band on the other leg with the numerals "186", Mr. Shoupe called the police and asked them what steps he should take in releasing the bird.

Following the officers' instructions, Mr. Shoupe made ready to release the pigeon that by this time had become a sort of pet and welcome (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Former Internal Revenue Agent Here Is in South Pacific Area

Capt. Harry Bursley Is General Depot Control Officer

NEW CALEDONIA, South Pacific Island Base—Capt. Harry C. Bursley, former internal revenue agent with the Bureau of Internal Revenue and accountant and tax consultant of Cumberland, is now the control officer for the army's South Pacific General Depot. He was in Cumberland from 1940 to 1942.

This depot has organizations of engineer, chemical, signal and other services and is a source of supply for everything from field kitchens to pencils for our forces in the South Pacific. In his position, Capt. Bursley has charge of all plans and training statistical data and rendering of all reports for the depot.

Served in World War I
Capt. Bursley attended George Washington university, Washington, D. C., and is a graduate in higher accountancy from the LaSalle Extension university, Chicago. His military experience began in the First World War when he served in the sanitary corps of the Medical department, being stationed at the Army Medical school, Washington.

Breakers of Box Farm Agent Says Car Seals Warned Bean Beetle Can Be Controlled

Boys and Girls Charged of Tampering with Paper Shipment Under Surface of Leaves

Capt. Harry D. Schmidt, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, last evening warned that tampering with railroad cars in interstate shipment is a federal offense and added that a heavy penalty will be meted out to violators who are apprehended.

Capt. Schmidt's statement came after complaints were made yesterday by Emmett A. Dougherty that boys and girls had broken the seals on box cars after they had been loaded with wastepaper in the company's rolling mill yard.

The B. & O. police official pointed out such an act is a federal offense as the shipment is assigned for a point outside the state. The maximum penalty attached is $10,000 and ten years imprisonment.

Dougherty, who is in charge of the wastepaper collection, said that boys and girls not only broke the car seals but ripped bundles of paper apart and scattered them along the railroad right of way.

"I suppose the kids are hunting funny papers and books but it's discouraging to find the paper which had been packed into the cars tossed all about the place after it took considerable work to carry it into the cars," Dougherty said.

Capt. Schmidt gave assurance that the rolling mill yard will be policed during the two remaining days of the collection campaign to prevent any recurrence of the acts perpetrated Tuesday and yesterday.

It only a small patch is to be dusted, a good trick is to have someone gently handle each plant in such a way as to turn the bottom surface of leaves up—then puff in the dust. If a spray is used, be sure the rod has an angle nozzle. If the angle is not sufficient use a plumber's "L" on the head of the rod and screw the nozzle into the plumber's "L".

Several Broods
It should be remembered that there are two and sometimes three broods of this insect in a single season. This means that the beetles are flying into the garden every day. Have the material on the plants when they start feeding. Repeat two or three times and this insect can be controlled.

Induction of a large class of new members, July 25, will mark the forty-second anniversary of the founding of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles. The membership is now 2,248 members, nearly 200 of whom are in the armed forces. This large membership makes the local aerie, the second largest fraternal organization in Maryland.

Several of the seven charter members still living expect to take part in the ceremonies.

Plans were announced yesterday for an outing of the aerie, July 30, at Smouse's Beach.

At Tuesday night's meeting, in the Eagles home, committee appointments were announced by Edward B. Fahey, recently installed as worthy president. Committee members are:

Seventy-seven Boy Scouts of five troops in Allegheny and Mineral counties have made reservations for the first week of the summer camp of Potomac council, which will open Saturday at 3 p. m., at Greenland Gap, Grant county, W. Va.

The first of the Cumberland district troops going to camp is No. 2, representing the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA. Scoutmaster Edgar Bucy and ten boys will make the trip.

Other scouts spending the first week at camp will be from Troop No. 43, Frostburg Rotary Club; No. 25, Barton high school; No. 42, Lonaconing Lions Club and No. 33, Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont.

Kenneth E. Jackson, scout executive of the council, and twelve boys are now at the camp site getting things in readiness for the opening. The camp will be in operation for one month with the season scheduled to close Saturday, July 29.

An indoor softball league for Junior "A" 11 to 15 years and Junior "B" 9 and 10 years, got under way yesterday at 9:30 a. m. and will be continued throughout the summer on Wednesday mornings.

"Y" emblems will go to the winning teams in each class at the close of the season.

A temporary detention home for juvenile offenders was suggested at a final meeting this year of the Allegheny County Co-ordinating Council last night. They planned to ask that the vacant property formerly known as the NYA building in Lonaconing be equipped to serve as temporary quarters until a permanent home can be established.

The committee for the establishment of a county detention home announced its plans to confer with the county commissioners, school and to call upon service clubs, church groups, and other interested organizations for endorsement of the action.

It was pointed out that at present the only place the juvenile court has as detention quarters is the county jail, and that young children should not be confined in the jail with adult offenders.

Agreement Follows Order Issued by Regional War Labor Board

A contract with the United Plantation Workers of America was signed yesterday by representatives of the Cumberland Box Company at a meeting with C. C. Smith, regional representative of the CIO, of Washington, D. C.

The contract covers bargaining rights for ten employees of the local plant which is located at 215 Elder street. Representing the company at the meeting were P. Smith, manager, and Clarence Lippel, attorney.

Signing of the contract came on the heels of an order issued yesterday by the Third Regional War Labor Board, Philadelphia, requiring the company to make full wage adjustments as provided for originally in a wage ruling issued by the board August 30, 1943. The board had asked for modification of this ruling on September 22, 1943.

NLRB Certified Union
William N. Loucks, vice-chairman of the board, pointed out that the September 22 request had been made by the company without union participation despite the fact that the union had been certified by the National Labor Relations Board more than one month before the date and also that negotiations with the union had already been underway for more than a month at that time.

War Labor Board procedure requires equal participation of the company and the proper collective bargaining agent in all requests for voluntary wage adjustments when such an agency exists.

In the same directive order the RWLB set a minimum of fifty cents for all employees of the company.

The directive order provides time and a half pay for performance on holiday; an additional week's vacation for employees with five or more years of service; and union maintenance of membership and check-off of union dues.

Board Denies Request
At the same time the board denied the union's request for pay for holidays not worked and overtime pay after eight hours and for the sixth day. The six months' wage-reopening clause requested by the union was also denied. The request of the union for an automatic wage increase was referred back to the parties for further negotiation.

Some members dissented from the denial of overtime pay and pay for holidays not worked while industry members dissented from the board's action re-establishing the original wage stabilization order including the fifty cents an hour minimum, and also from the majority action.
